THIRTY-EIGHT SENATORS ARE MILLIONAIRES

Representative Adair of Indiana Shows Controlling Influence in Enacting Tariff Legislation.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—There are thirty-eight millionaires in the United States Senate. Some of them are multi-millionaires. The thirty-eight are able to swing any proposition they desire. Is it reasonable to presume they would allow their fortunes to influence them in voting on an income tax?

Representative John A. M. Adair, who comes from a little town in Indiana, answered this query in one of the most remarkable speeches that has been made on the floor of the House in months. The country generally will never read Mr. Adair's speech, however. The great press associations, closely allied to the Republican party, do not "handle" speeches like Adair's, even when made in the American Congress. Speeches of men like LaFollette, even, are frequently ignored.

"The action of the Senate in dealing with the tariff emphasizes the fact that we have too many millionaires in that body," said Adair. "As I am informed, there are now in the United States Senate thirty-eight millionaires representing over $149,000,000. What can the people expect at their hands but legislation designed to aid the special-privileged class."

"It is a shame and a disgrace, Mr.

Speaker, that under our system of taxation the poor laboring man who has a wife and four or five children to support contributes more toward the expenses of the Government than does the millionaire who is too proud to raise a family and has no one to clothe and feed except a wife and a poodle dog.

"The State of New York has a tax commission, consisting of fifteen members, and that commission has made a report showing that the wealthy class of that State only pay tax on $1 out of $30, while the poor man, who cannot cover up his property, pays tax on every dollar he is worth. There are no more loyal and patriotic people on earth than those who work for wages, and they are willing to pay their just share of the Government expenses, but they do object to wholesale discrimination against them in favor of the rich.

"Mr. Speaker, I believe the future of this country depends on the enactment of legislation that will give equal rights to all men and special privileges to none. Under our present system of tariff taxation, and in the absence of effective anti-trust legislation, stupendous trusts and combinations have sprung, which have transferred a majority of the wealth of the country into the hands of a few people.

"There surely is much alarm in the fact 4,000 men now own over 85 per cent of all the wealth of the country, and each one of the balance of the 99,000,000 people owns less than $500 in property. The records show, sir, that 51 men, who have been the beneficiaries of special legislation, now own $1,000,000,000 of this country's wealth. It is a lamentable fact that one thirty-fifth of the entire wealth of the United States is therefore concentrated in the hands of 51 men, and these men are today dictating the legislation of this special session of Congress.

"The power to rule men by intellectual and moral force, the test of statesmanship of a former day, is fast passing away, while wealth, the uncrowned king, arrogantly rules in a domain where it is only fitted to serve.

"Now comes a new tariff bill, which promises to bear heavily on practically all of the people, and especially those who work for wages. Senator LaFollette has shown that on clothing alone the people will be robbed of $120,000,000 annually, and this is but one of a thousand items where similar extortions will be practiced.

"The cotton manufacturers are given a prohibitive duty and have an absolute monopoly on their finished product. On $6.25 worth of cotton cloth, such as is used by the plain people, there is a tax of $1.57; under the Dingley law 100 yards of unbleached sheeting was taxed $4, while under this bill it is taxed $6.96, and the same is true all through the cotton schedule. Three dollars' worth of ordinary cotton stockings is taxed $1.65. The woolen schedule is worse. On a woolen suit of clothes costing $15 there is a tax of $6.80. Twenty-five yards of worsted, valued at $60, are taxed $7.10. Twenty-five yards of cheap flannel, valued at $8.75, are taxed $5.25. Seven and a half dollars' worth of cheap woolen hats are taxed $4.76.

"If this bill becomes a law the sugar trust will continue to rob the American people of $55,000,000 annually, and the woolen manufacturers will continue to exact from the consumers over $100,000,000 each year in excess of what is a fair profit; the United States Steel Corporation will continue to exploit the people of millions annually, while the 400 trusts set out in Moody's Manual will build up colossal fortunes wrung from the pockets of the working people.

"Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the laborer, who will be compelled to pay more for the necessities of life, and who already has a hard time to feed and clothe his family, I protest against the passage of this bill. On behalf of 9,000,000 poor working girls, who will be compelled to pay more for their dresses, more for their hosiery and gloves, more for everything they wear, I earnestly protest against the passage of this unjust measure."

HUGE BUILDING FALLS TAKING SEVEN LIVES

Five-Story Structure Crashes Down Without Warning Upon Nearly Two Score of Workmen.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—In one of the busiest sections of the city and at a time when thousands of pedestrians were passing to and fro, the five-story brick building at the northeast corner of Eleventh and Market streets, which was being reconstructed for the United Gas Improvement company, collapsed with a terrific crash yesterday afternoon, burying or striking several of the men on the two floors below. Seven are dead, one missing, one fatally injured and twenty-four more or less seriously injured.

The dead are Charles Larsen, 45 years old, substitute foreman of carpenters; Peter Fritz, 56 years old, carpenter; Paul Hanning, 49 years old, laborer; Alfred Davis, 18 years old, negro laborer; Sigmund Lansberg, 23 years old, laborer; Alvin ———, 50 years old, a Swede, and an unknown man, terribly mangled.

James Haggerty, 30 years old, with a fractured skull, is fatally injured.

The two lower floors had been torn out and the three upper floors were shored up by heavy timber. Steel girders were bracing the shoring. It is supposed that by moving one of the girders, the entire structure was loosened. The crash came without warning, and narrow escapes were many.

Thrilling Rescues Made.

The roar of the collapse was heard for blocks. Bystanders and passersby fled in desperation, as it was thought an explosion had occurred. When they realized what had happened, people flocked to the ruins and began a series of thrilling rescues.

Before professional aid could be mustered, automobiles, teamsters' wagons, and all sorts of nearby vehicles were filled with the dead or injured and hurried to hospitals. It was a sweltering day and several of the rescuers were overcome by the heat and dust from the debris.

Almost as strenuous as digging up the injured was the task of keeping the congested masses of people from surrounding too closely the wreckage. The walls which were left standing looked unsafe, but the people surged forward heedless of the danger.

For a time service on the subway line which runs along Market street in front of the building was tied up. A woman subway ticket seller, terrified by the crash of the collapse and the shower of bricks and stones that dropped down the subway stair, fainted in her office.

Many instances of heroism were witnessed. One man whose leg was broken was pinned beneath some timbers. When firemen came within hailing distance he asked that they attend the more seriously injured.

The entire fourth floor of the building lay slant against the side of the adjoining building cutting off air in a section twenty feet square, where it is believed the missing man was buried. Workmen last night continued digging in the ruins.

Harry Thaw Threatened Life of His Young Wife

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 16.—Harry K. Thaw's wife, formerly the chorus girl, Evelyn Nesbit, went on the stand here yesterday and gave damaging testimony against him. It was the strongest point scored so far by the State in its fight to keep Thaw in the asylum for the criminal insane at Matteawan. When the day's session was concluded, adjournment was taken until July 26.

For three days the State has been trying to bring out that Thaw threatened his wife's life on one of her visits to Matteawan, as tending to show his irrationality. Blocked at first by objections, sustained by the court, Thaw's attorney at last failed to show that the alleged conversation between man and wife, and when Evelyn Thaw took the witness chair yesterday afternoon her lips were unsealed. She related as if in fear, Thaw's alleged threat to take her life if he were released from the asylum.

Whether assumed or not, she expressed apprehension while testifying. She was quoted afterward as saying that she testified because of the treatment she received at the hands of the Thaw family, but on the stand she apparently struggled hard not to tell, and when compelled to do so by the court, she obeyed reluctantly and tearfully.

"Did Harry K. Thaw threaten to take your life?" she was asked directly by Deputy Attorney-General Clarke.

The court room was hushed and Evelyn Thaw turned appealingly to Justice Mills. She begged to be allowed not to answer, because she said she knew she would incur his everlasting animosity.

But the court ruled that the only possible grounds upon which she could decline to answer were that it would tend to incriminate her, and he added that he did not see how that would be applicable to her situation. Then Evelyn Thaw answered the question.

"Yes, he did," she said in a low voice.

"What were his exact words?" demanded Mr. Clark.

"He said, 'When I get out of here, I suppose I will have to kill you.'"

"Why did he say that?"

"We were discussing his mental condition. I had asked him what he meant, and he said: 'You knew I was not crazy on the night that I shot White.' I asked him again and he said: 'You know that I missed White by two minutes on the day before.'"

Thaw, when asked about his wife's testimony after court, said he was not surprised at her attitude, but denied that he had ever threatened her life.

Dr. Adolph Meyer, of the New York State Lunacy Commission, testified that he talked with Thaw about the reasons which led him to shoot Stanford White, principally alleged debauching of young girls, which Thaw said was carried on in White's various rendezvous.

Anthony Comstock, president of the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice, described his efforts to assist Thaw to get sufficient evidence of White's practice to prosecute him criminally. He believed Thaw sane.

Killed Fellow Convict Georgia Negro Must Hang

TIFTON, Ga., July 16.—Cleveland Westbrook, colored, who stabbed James Davis, also colored, a fellow convict on the Tift county chain-gang, on the night of January 2 last, will die at Tift county's first legal hanging, unless the courts interfere.

Westbrook, who was in an ugly humor, was raising a disturbance among his fellow convicts around the camp fire on the night of the killing, and some of them called Supt. Davis' attention to get to the superintendent to cut him, but was held by the chain to which all the convicts were fastened, and Davis kept stepping back out of his reach.

Seeing he could not reach Davis, Westbrook, in a paroxysm of rage, turned on James Davis, the nearest convict to him on the chain, and slashed him horribly with the knife. He had to be beaten into submission before he could be handcuffed.

The case was called yesterday morning in Tift superior court and the jury returned a verdict of guilty in the afternoon. The court appointed Cols. R. D. Smith and R. E. Dinsmore to defend the negro, and they made a stubborn fight for him.

The witnesses for the State were Supt. Davis, who is now superintendent of public roads for Newton county, and Warden G. W. Walker of the Tift county gang. Judge Mitchell has not yet fixed the date for the execution.

Isn't there something which only a want ad. can do for you today?

Williams Again Likely To Control the Seaboard

ATLANTA, Ga., July 16.—Is the temporary truce declared between the long opposing factions of John Skelton Williams and Thomas F. Ryan, of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company, to result in the final victory of Williams as the controlling head of the organization?

This interesting question is being asked among railroad men, especially in view of the fact that the reorganization of the road is to occur in a short time, and the line to be placed on one of the most solid operating bases that it has known since its organization.

It is understood that Williams and Ryan have compromised, so that the road will not necessarily be sold under a decree of the United States court. At the same time it is being rumored that Williams is making every effort to consolidate his interests so as to finally control the road. It is further stated that Ryan is willing to sell his interests in the road to Williams, provided the latter is able to finance his scheme to own the road.

Appointments that have been recently made, incidental with plans for the reorganization, have been Williams' appointments. This creates the opinion that Williams and Ryan have reached some agreement by which the long fight will be ended, with Williams in complete control.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 16.—Fifteen thousand men with decorated floats and carriages, forming a line more than four miles in length, composed the great Elks' parade, which yesterday passed for three hours through the principal streets, lined with immense crowds.

Twelve divisions made up the parade, each headed by a brass band, with trumpeters and other musical organizations interspersed. Officers of the Grand Lodge of Elks were gorgeously decorated carriages in a front of the line. As the procession moved, drill corps of the various lodges performed striking evolutions, and the music of the many bands was punctuated at frequent intervals by shots fired from the cannon of Revolutionary days, hauled by a squad of Spokane, Washington, lodge, uniformed in costumes of the time of Washington.

SPECIAL TRAIN IS SECURED FOR Ocala

RATE OF SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS FOR THE ROUND TRIP.

Manager Davis Thinks He Will Easily Carry Six Hundred on This Excursion.

Manager Davis states that he has information which assures him of a special train on next Tuesday for the great and much-talked-of game with Ocala, and that he is now trying to have the rate of seventy-five cents for the round trip.

With the interest taken in the Palatka game he feels sure that the crowd will be trebled to Ocala, for it has been agitated a great deal during the past few days, and the time is ripe now for this much-talked-of event.

Provided all of his men get well he will play the same crowd that have done such good work on the road trip, but in the event that some of them are still disabled he has something up his sleeve to take their places, for he intends to win the game—and win it we must.

Stevens, one of the new men picked up on the trip, has been released, and left yesterday for his home in Savannah, but all the rest of the boys are to remain during the season.

With the arrival of the lads home their "hooey" was broken, and they hope to not be bothered with it this season, for they have played in some of the hardest luck that ever befell a baseball aggregation while out on the road.

Talk the Ocala trip, and induce as many of your friends as can go along and see the manner in which the boys will do things on this occasion. Their motto will be "Dose 'Em."

Broke Out on Hips and Legs—Was So Sore, Irritating and Painful that Little Sufferer Could Not Sleep—Scratched Constantly and Kept Growing Worse.

CUTICURA'S EFFECT QUICK AND PERMANENT

"When about two and a half years old my daughter broke out on her hips and the upper parts of her legs with a very irritating and painful eruption. It began in October; the first I noticed was a little red surface and a constant desire on her part to scratch her limbs. She could not sleep and the eruptions got sore, and yellow water came out of them. I had two doctors treat her, but she grew worse under their treatment. Then I bought the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent, and only used them two weeks when she was entirely well. This was in February. She has never had any more trouble on her skin, and she is now fourteen years old. I used only half the bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and less than a box of Cuticura Ointment. Mrs. R. R. WIRES THE PRESIDENT.

In the Interest of His Customers He Asks a Veto.

J. Manasse, the south side clothier and gent's furnisher, has the distinction of being the first business man of Gainesville to wire President Taft relative to the tariff bill.

He states that the message was solely in the interest of his customers, for under the new tariff there would be a raise in the price of woolsens of fully 32 per cent, and it would prove a hardship to the purchasing public. He therefore decided to wire the President to veto the measure in reference to this clause.

If dealers the country over would adopt the same procedure it would doubtless have some effect.

NEWS OF CITY AND COUNTY CONDENSED

Mrs. L. R. Wimberly, accompanied by her daughters, Misses Annie, Jessie and Ethel, have returned from a delightful visit to Daytona Beach.

Dr. J. S. Chamblin of Archer was here yesterday en route to Micanopy on a short visit, and also to witness the ball game there yesterday afternoon between the teams of that place and Archer.

R. H. Smith of Hawthorn was here yesterday. He has just purchased from N. A. Callison of Spring Park Stock Farm a fine registered Hereford bull, which he will use for the purpose of raising the grade of his stock.

Everyone would be benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative for stomach and liver trouble and habitual constipation. It sweetens the stomach and breath, gently stimulates the liver and regulates the bowels and is much superior to pills and ordinary laxatives. Why not try Foley's Orino Laxative today? J. W. McCollum & Co.

Will Repair Church Organ.

Geo. W. Davenport of this city has secured the contract to repair the Methodist church pipe organ, one of the largest of its kind in the city. Heretofore this class of work has always been done by outsiders, but Gainesville citizens will be pleased to know that it has a young man here who is fully capable of handling any class of work in this line, and the committee have done a wise thing in the selection of Mr. Davenport, for if anything should happen he is right here to repair the damage.

Many people with chronic throat and lung trouble have found comfort and relief in Foley's Honey and Tar, as it cures stubborn coughs after other treatment has failed. L. M. Ruggles, Reasnor, Iowa, writes: "The doctors said I had consumption, and I got no better until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It stopped the hemorrhages and pain in my lungs, and they are now as sound as a bullet." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Standing Up For Him.

"Miriam, isn't that young Ferris coming to our house pretty often now?" "I suppose he is, mamma." "Do you know anything about him? What is he worth, for instance?" "Well, he's worth any dozen of the ordinary young men of my acquaintance." "Yes, but"— "And he's worth $100 a week to the firm he works for, even if he does get only $25 now."—Chicago Tribune.

Delay in taking Foley's Kidney Remedy if you have backache, kidney or bladder trouble, fastens the disease upon you and makes a cure more difficult. Commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy today and you will soon be well. Why risk a serious malady? J. W. McCollum & Co.

Solicitude.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "didn't you say that horse you bought has a pedlarree?" "Yes," was the complacent reply. "Well, knowing how unlucky you are with horses, I consulted a veterinary surgeon. You needn't worry. The doctor says it won't hurt him in the least."—Washington Star.

TELEPHONE TALKS

The Long Distance System

One of the most valuable features of our service, to our subscribers and to the public generally, is our connection with the extensive long distance lines of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the other associated Bell Telephone companies.

We own thousands of miles of long distance lines in the seven States in which we operate and in addition can connect any telephone in our system with lines extending to any other city in which a Bell Telephone system is operated.

These long distance lines are of the most modern and improved construction and are maintained at a high state of efficiency. The Bell systems, operating in various sections of the country, are uniform in their equipment and in their methods of operating.

Only by reason of this close arrangement between the Bell Telephone companies is it possible to get a Bell Telephone almost anywhere, ask for "Long Distance" and be put in communication with almost any point in the country.

This vast network of wires, radiating throughout the nation, is used daily in commerce and for social purposes by the banker, the farmer and citizens in all walks of life and our plant here is an important link in this great chain.

The man who is always suspicious of others usually gives good cause for others to be suspicious of him.

Abdul Hamid's money invested in America seems to be almost as elusive as the treasures of Captain Kidd.

There is something wrong with the man who can be pessimistic on the United States—a country whose hens laid $500,000,000 worth of eggs in 1908.

This country's available supply of iron ore is estimated at 4,785,000,000 long tons, which will keep the mills running as long as prosperity wishes to prolong its visit.

A. M. Taylor of St. Augustine was selected Grand Exalted Inner Guard of the Elks at their session in Los Angeles. Detroit was selected as the next place of meeting.

Commissioner of Immigration Williams is strictly enforcing the law of exclusion, greatly to the annoyance of the rejected aliens; but there can be no doubt that the welfare of the country is enhanced thereby.

In a year of dull business and reduced incomes one would naturally expect an increase in the amount of home saving and patching. It is a little surprising to learn that the American Thread Co.'s profits fell off 22 per cent last year.

The Standard Oil Trust has now come into competition with the milk cow, the latest product of the trust being petroleum butter. It is said to be of the same consistency as lard butter, but is brown in color. It lasts a great deal longer than real butter, it is said, and it does not become rancid.

Great rivalry exists between the Orlando and Sanford baseball enthusiasts. The citizens of these two towns have employed the best batteries and fielders to be had who are not under contract with some State league, and large sums of money changes hands on the result of each game. Sanford had the better of the contest up to last reports.

The seaside resorts are contributing their quota to the profits of the undertakers, scarcely a day passing that the drowning of one or more persons is not chronicled in the news columns of the daily press. Invariably the loss of life in the surf is the result of recklessness on the part of bathers venturing too far out into the briny deep.

Dr. R. B. Potter of Palm Beach died recently in Jacksonville, where he had gone to have an operation performed. The Miami News-Record says of deceased: "Dr. Potter was a native of Ohio, but had resided in Dade county more than twenty years. Deceased was a practicing physician, a Republican and in 1896 represented Dade county in the State Legislature, being the only Republican in that body. He was prominently identified in many ways with the upbuilding of Dade county. Deceased was unmarried and

INCOME TAX AND OTHER DIRECT TAXES.

It may be laid down as an axiom, self-evident on its face, that nobody likes paying taxes. In any organized form of society taxes must be imposed, and the whole problem is how to place them where the burden will be easiest borne. This looks like an argument in favor of indirect taxation, but a little examination will show that because the taxpayer is ignorant of the exact amount of the impost, and precisely how he pays it, it does not follow that the burden is easily borne.

Indirect taxes in fact are always the heaviest, although we have not yet succeeded in making the average citizen recognize this fact. We have carried the evasion of taxes to scientific lengths in this country. It is like the old-fashioned children's game of "Button," where the last holder of that article pays forfeit. Under our present system the last holder is the small consumer and, to prevent any possible mistake, we sew the button on him with American thread. This is not to say that the small consumer or any other person of limited means should be exempt from taxation. On the contrary it would be a great deal better for the country and would tend to purity and economy in government if every voter paid direct taxes.

Taxes in Gainesville, for instance, tend to fall to an utterly unwarrantable degree upon holders of real estate. These are, of course, distributed as far as possible, so that the tenant pays in his rent. The storekeeper pays so much more for the privilege of doing business, and collects the municipal taxes from every workman's wife who buys a dozen eggs or a pair of stockings. The trouble is that the workman's wife has been taught to think that some terrible power (called "the trusts") is alone responsible for high prices. She does not dream of connecting the cost of living with the administration of the city's affairs.

A Federal income tax will at least be submitted to the various State legislatures, although the question of securing the necessary majority of consents will be open for debate for a long time to come. The tax is unquestionably sound in principle, and it will be highly unpopular in practice. It is so in Great Britain, but it may be said that it does not lead to one-tenth the amount of perjury which our imbecile personal property tax generates. It does stimulate a direct interest in the economical administration of government, just as a better system of imposing municipal taxes insures that London is run at one-fourth the cost of the city of New York to the tax payer.

What we want is a tax which cannot be shifted to other shoulders. In this respect the tariff, however valuable for infant, not to say sucking, industries, is among the worst of all taxes; while a municipal tax directly on the tenant, who is also the voter, and an income tax which reaches the man of small income are, in point of efficiency, the best type of imposts which human intelligence has yet devised.

SPRING PARK STOCK FARM.

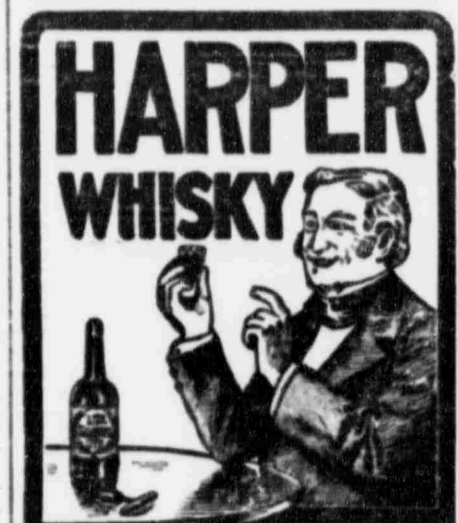

The National Breeder's Gazette, published at Chicago, contains the following interesting sketch of Spring Park Stock Farm in its issue of July 7th, under the caption of "A Florida Stock Farm."

"It will surprise many to learn that $125,000 has been spent on the equipment of a pedigree cattle breeding establishment in Florida. Spring Park Stock Farm at Gainesville is one of the most completely equipped farms in America. It was founded on the enterprise and indomitable energy of N. A. Callison, an Illinois man who had mined phosphate for some years successfully, and who saw the future of stock improvement in Florida. Gainesville is the seat of Alachua county, which contains some of the richest soil of the State and some of the most enterprising farmers and truck growers. Spring Park is aptly named. Its 3,500 acres, comprising a number of plantations of ante-bellum fame, are liberally watered with ever-living springs. It is hammock land of strong character, breaking into mixed hammock toward its edges and then into pine land. The topography is most attractive, as the land rolls gently after the fashion of the famous fencing has been stretched, and the equipment of barns, paddocks, mule lots, feed yards, and poultry yards is very complete. For some years this establishment was conducted by a company, with Mr. Callison a heavy stockholder and manager, but recently he acquired sole ownership. Hereford, Jersey and Berkshire herds of high character are maintained. The 'white-faces' have given a good account of themselves under Florida conditions, demonstrating thoroughly their great grazing ability, and the Jerseys take kindly to their environment. The latter are ready sale, as fair prices will be given for all the good family cows that Mr. Callison can raise. Ranchmen have begun to evince interest in the Herefords and the bulls are finding a market where they are most needed. Sound judgment was exercised in the selection of foundation stock, and although the cattle number 100 head only bulls can now be spared from the herds, except occasionally a fresh Jersey. To supply the demand for family cows Mr. Callison is developing a number of grade Jersey heifers. The Berkshires are eye-openers. They are of the bluest blood and under their free field life carry that massiveness and flesh which characterize the modern type of the breed. The work of improvement will further be affected by a very superior boar which was recently placed at the head of the herd. Spring Park Stock Farm, in the quality and extent of the land, the permanence of its improvements, and the character of its stock, would be a credit to any State; it is a conspicuous monument to the stock improvement campaign which is gathering effective headway in Florida."

THE "BREAK" IN THE GAME.

Baseball Almost as Much Psychological as Athletic.

Nearly every baseball game is won and lost on one play—a play that comes at the psychological instant. Among the players who do not study psychology the crucial moment is known as "the break," a phenomenon which no one has analyzed and which the players themselves do not understand. Twenty men on the bench are watching closely and intently every move of the pitcher, every swing of his arm. The tide of battle rises, ebbs, and then suddenly at the start of some inning something happens. What it is no one outside the psychic sphere of influence ever will understand, but the silent, tight lipped, watchful, alert fellows on the bench see something or feel something, and the mysterious "break" has come.

"One ball!" The players on the bench suddenly stiffen and prepare for action.

"Two balls!" Two players jump for bats and begin swinging them; the coaches, who have yelled only because it was their duty, suddenly begin raving, screaming and pawing the dirt, and the manager, who was appeared half asleep, makes a trumpet of his hands and leads his men, howling loud orders and wild taunts.

The spectators do not understand anything has happened. Other batters have had two balls called many times, and it looks the same to the spectator who is beyond the mysterious "break" sphere. In two more moments the players' bench is a madhouse, with twenty men shouting, screaming, ordering, moving. "Three balls!" and a madman rushes out to the "deck." "Four balls!" and the spectators join the players in the demonstration. The madness is spreading. Crack—a base hit, a bunt, a wild throw; another base hit, screams, shouts, imprecations, a roar of frantic applause, a final long fly. The manager reaches for his glove, spits into it and says quietly, "Four runs—we've got 'em." The "break" is over, and the players' bench is again the quietest part of the grounds. The surge of enthusiasm, confidence and noise subsides, and the game is won.

Baseball is almost as much psychological as athletic. Why one team can beat a stronger one regularly and lose to a weaker with the same regularity, why one batter can hit one pitcher and is helpless before another, why one pitcher is effective against a strong team and at the mercy of another that cannot bat half as hard, are psychological problems.—American Magazine.

If its worth more to someone else than to you—no matter what it is—a want ad will be a good investment.

A MISER'S END.

Meanness of M. Vandille and the Way He Hastened His Death.

M. Vandille was chief magistrate at Boulogne and by miserly habits left a fortune of $4,000,000. His usual diet was bread and milk. The bread cost very little, and after eating his loaf at home his habit was to become his own public milk inspector, whom as chief magistrate he had the right to appoint. And so, as he declared, to protect the inhabitants from being imposed upon by an inferior quality of milk he took his walk immediately after eating his loaf and demanded to taste the milk of every salesman he passed, thus saving himself from purchasing any. Misers are generally strong men—they have to be so in order to live a life of privation—but eventually Vandille, like other misers, was seized with illness, and the surgeons had to be called in. In those days they bled their patients. The surgeon asked Vandille half a livre for the operation, but the millionaire ordered him at once out of his sight and sent for the apothecary. The apothecary refused to cut the price down, so Vandille sent for a poor barber, who undertook to open a vein for three sous a time.

"Aye, but," said this worthy economist, "how often, friend, will it be necessary to bleed me?"

"Three times."

"And what quantity of blood do you intend to take each time?"

"Eight ounces."

"Well, but why can't you take the whole twenty-four ounces at once? You want to make a job of me, you scoundrel! Here, sir; there are your three sous. Take the twenty-four ounces immediately." The barber was generous to obey. M. Vandille lost the twenty-four ounces of blood and died in a few days, leaving all his vast treasures to the king, whom he made his sole heir.—Strand Magazine.

The Oldest Bridge in Paris.

The Pont Notre Dame is the oldest bridge in Paris. It was first built in 1413 in the reign of Charles VI., but it was carried away, together with the houses which lined it, by ice flows when the frost broke in 1499. A new bridge was begun at once under the direction of Jean Joconde of Verona and was ready for traffic in 1507. On that bridge stood the famous picture shop of Gersaint, which had a sign-board specially painted for it by Watteau.—Westminster Gazette.

ORCHID HUNTING.

The Terrors and the Dangers of a Tropical Forest.

It is not a pretty story, this narrative of a trip up the Orinoco, but you may understand orchid people better if you read it.

"It began unluckily," said he. "I took a partner because I'd learned that the dark places of earth are hard upon a man by himself. I met him at Port of Spain, and he was eager for the adventure because he had just absconded from a British mercantile house in Havana and the Orinoco sounded to him like a haven."

"We hired a few negroes. Our real guides we would pick up at Angostura. One day while waiting for the stores to be packed I took my partner out to show him what an orchid was."

"Near the Pitch lake I saw one in a tree and ordered one of the negro boys to shin up and get it. He would not. A deadly snake dwelt in that tree, he declared. He was afraid—afraid of snakes! Nice, efficient, helpful boy to take into tropical forests, wasn't he?"

"It was insubordination before the expedition had even started. So I cuffed him and handed him my hunting knife. 'Bring down that flower and also the snake's head,' I ordered, and, whining, trembling, he went up the trunk. He was detaching the orchid from where it clung when a thing like a spear, as black as his own skin, suddenly struck at the boy's wrist. He screamed with terror and, toppling down, writhed with pain. He died, and I felt a gloom settle on my spirits."

"Well, at Angostura we took rafts and six guides upstream. First one guide died of fever; then another was bitten by poisonous insects. One fell in with—or into—an alligator. We needed meat, and the skin was worth a good deal, so half in revenge, half in curiosity, we went out and plugged holes in the monster. When the guides cut it open they stooped and drew things out—the bones and the cotton clothes of the guide this cannibal reptile had swallowed. The very knot was still in his sarong. Oh, don't squirm! This is orchid hunting."

"We had three guides left at the end of the second month, when, paddling along one day when the vines overreached and let snaky tendrils draggle down, we came to a fifty yard clearing. We saw there the sides of three canoes, half smothered with rapid growing vegetation, and 1,500 alligator skins well salted, but decaying. Hanging to the roof of what had been a kind of lean-to were 100 orchid plants—withered and dead. On the floor lay two rusty rifles and two skeletons. Out by the ash place where the fire had been was a third skeleton. Up between the ribs were cheerfully growing some gay weeds."—Everybody's Magazine.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys, and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. ABOUT ADVERTISING—NO. 4

The Hen and the Doorknob

By Herbert Kaufman

Once upon a time there was a fool hen who sat on a china doorknob for three weeks expecting to get a family. The only thing she did get was experience.

The advertising field is full of "china doorknob propositions"—examples of merchants who expect good newspapers to hatch money out of bad egg business, or who put sound nest eggs under the wrong "advertising hen."

There are three principles to follow in an advertising campaign: First of all, find a business that will stand advertising; secondly, find the newspaper that will make the advertising pay; thirdly, give the newspaper time to pay.

You can't start in to breed dollars in less time than it takes to hatch them any more than you can pull a hen off the nest before she has had a chance to incubate. In both cases you simply waste what has been invested. If you stop too soon you will get a rotten egg instead of a chicken.

Advertise something out of which you may reasonably expect returns, and when you have found what to advertise, take care that you place your copy in a newspaper that can turn the trick. Don't delude yourself with a china doorknob, and don't confuse a "rooster newspaper," which spends its time cock-a-foruming, for a "hen newspaper" that is too busy to lay, or dollars to strut about.

"That Which Is Worth Having Is Worth Advertising For"

The old adage that what is worth having is worth asking for is still true—true of the more intricate life of today. The thing you want—whether it is a used piano or a home, whether it is a ready-made business or a lost pocket-book—is obtained readily through advertising, and with difficulty, or not at all, through other means.

THE DAILY SUN, GAINESVILLE, FLORIDA, JULY 17, 1909

GAINESVILLE, —THE— University City.

Gainesville is conceded to be the most enterprising as well as the most beautiful city in the interior of Florida. It is located in the very center of the State, half way between the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, surrounded by lands of such fertility as to be capable of producing a great variety of crops, in the heart of the truck-growing, phosphate and naval stores belt. She has the best educational advantages in the State, good churches, with edifices which are superior to any town of its size in Florida. With her climate which cannot be excelled for health and pleasure. All these natural advantages, combined with a progressive and enterprising cosmopolitan citizenship, are sure to make a big city.

There are many natural attractions in close proximity to the city, some of which are Alachua Sink, Paine's Prairie, the Devil's Mill Hopper, Warren's Cave, and Lake Newnan, all of which are reached by private conveyance.

Spring Park Stock Farm, the largest and finest live stock farm in the State, is only eight miles west of the city and is reached by a good hard road, affording a most pleasant drive.
